Duty of disclosure: This proposal form, and the risk information/mapping etc provided by you, forms the basis of the insurance contract between you and the insurer. You have a duty to disclose any matter that you know, or ought to reasonably know, which is relevant to a reasonable insurer's decision to accept the risk of insurance, and if so, on what terms to accept the risk i.e. increased fire risk due to neighbouring camp ground or known arson threat. This duty of disclosure extends to the renewal of the policy but does not require you to disclose anything that: diminishes the risk; is of common knowledge; the insurer knows, or ought to reasonably know; is waived by the insurer. Non-disclosure may entitle the insurer to reduce their liability to you, or if fraudulent, may enable the insurer to void the policy from the beginning.

Cancellation of the policy may entitle you to a refund. Any refund will be calculated by the insurer.

We acknowledge we have read the above and the information is accurate to the best of our knowledge and information about us will be kept by the insurer and available for correction by us.
